P.-T. A. Will Meet Wednesday, Oct. 11

Following a very successful first meeting, devoted to an explanation of methods of teaching reading, the second meeting of the Carmel Parent-Teacher association will be held Wednesday afternoon, October 11 at Sunset school at 3 p.m.

This meeting will be concerned with the methods of teaching writing, spelling, number work and arithmetic, the discussions to be led by Miss Marian Ohm, Mrs. Edna C. Lockwood, Mrs. Sara Rinehart and Mrs. Frances Johnson.

With the annual campagin for membership under way, it is hoped that by next week a strong membership may be reported. Memberships of fifty cents may be sent through the children, or contributed directly to the membership chairman at the next meeting.

Few people realize the great importance of an active, properly functioning Parent Teacher Association which serves as an excellent means for bringing the school and the home to the cooperative working basis essential for the progress of the child; and which also provides an excellent means for bringing the school and the community into an harmonious relationship. Carmel has such an organization. In order to assure its continued effectiveness, every parent, teacher, and interested friend should take it upon himself to become an active member.

All those interested are urged to attend at the next meeting.

A summary of the State report on school reinforcement against earthquakes will be available for the press soon. It was decided at the Tuesday meeting of the school board that the State report should be boiled down for a public record in time for the next meeting on Tuesday.

Told of Work Done By N.R.A. Committee

At the meeting of the NRA committee at Sunset school last Friday evening, reports were made on the work done to create enthusiasm among Carmel people for the recovery movement.

Speeches were made before groups all over the city, under the direction of Mrs. Daisy Bostick, chairman, and Mrs. J. B. McCarthy.

Three-minute talkers included J. L. Cockburn, Winsor Josselyn, Herbert Heron, Dr. John Gray and Frank Sheridan.

Howell Byrnes, of the main NRA committee, gave a short talk and said Carmel was solidly behind the national program, a few adjustments having been made without friction.

Four students of Sunset school ably presented brief summaries of the NRA movement. They assembled, wrote and memorized their own data and received much favorable comment. They were Roger Fulton, Freer Gottfried Bud Brownell and Bob Farley.

All those present admired the posters which had been made by all grades in the Sunset school. Those done by the higher grades were really works of art and showed real talent behind the efforts, while those of the lower grades showed enthusiasm and probably a departure from the old ideas of art. These posters were placed on exhibition later in store windows throughout Carmel.

The committee will probably not meet again for another three weeks, but notices of further activities will appear in the papers.

Teachers Give Party At Robles del Rio

The new teachers of the Sunset school were entertained by the members of the faculty who had taught here previously at a party at Robles del Rio Wednesday afternoon and evening. Swimming was enjoyed in the afternoon, and after dinner, games and dancing were participated in by teachers, trustees, and their families.

The hosts and invited guests were; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Farley, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kohler, Mrs. Lilly Trowbridge, Miss Marion Ohm, Mrs. Edna Lockwood, Mrs. Bernita Ninneman, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Montmorency, Miss Anna Marie Baer, Mrs. Frances Johnson, Miss Madeline Curry, Mr. Roy Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Calley, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bardarson, Miss Althea Kendall, Mrs. Sarah Rinehart, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Miss Clara Kellogg, Miss Ella Kellogg, Miss Eleanor Smith and Miss Jean Wallace.

Woman's Club Hears of Fair in Chicago

C. J. Ryland told a large gathering at the first annual meeting to the Carmel Woman's Club last Monday that the architecture at the World's Fair was utilitarian in character. Also that it was a background to the exhibits, often being built around the exhibit.

Frederick Bechdolt gave an inspiring talk on the N.R.A. and Mrs. Ford talked wittily about the newly acquired tea sets and cupboard for containing them. .

Mrs. John Abernethy was hostess with several assistants. Mrs. Rendtorff introduced heads of the different sections. The social hour was pleasant. The flower decorations made the clubhouse an attractive setting.

Ten members were taken into the club.

October 9 to 16, Is Fire Prevention Week

Fire prevention is the concern of each and every one of us and this is fully realized by civic and business organizations everywhere. Many people think because the fire insurance companies pay the losses when fires occur, that ends the matter, but it doesn't. These losses actually come out of the pockets of us all. We pay for fires in the cost of insurance, which is largely determined by the record of losses in each area. We pay for fires in increased taxes. You know that the property destroyed by fire yields no tax revenue so all remaining property must bear a heavier tax. We pay for fires in higher prices in almost every article, since the manufacturer of each article must include the cost of insurance in figuring the cost of his product.

We pay for fires in unemployment and lowered buying power . . . A recent survey shows 43 percent of business concerns wiped out by fire are unable to resume operations.

In the present emergency particularly this seems the height of folly. Fire squanders the Nation's store of material wealth. The flames destroy utterly—nothing burned up can ever again be put to useful purposes.

YOU have a part in this Fire Prevention work; don't shirk it. Make a thorough inspection of your home from basement to attic.

1. Remove all accumulations of old boxes, furniture, paper, combustible trash or debris.

2. Clean out all soot and repair chimneys.

3. Use friction lighters or safety matches.

4. Do not smoke in the basement, garage or attic.

5. As you value your life, do not smoke in bed.

6. Provide metal can, with cover for ashes.

7. Make every day Fire Prevention day in YOUR home.

Soviet Film Will Be Shown at Community

The National Film and Photo League with newly established branches in San Francisco, Hollywood and Carmel is bringing its first films to Carmel next Sunday evening, for one show only. If this is successful it will bring some of the greatest European films made to Carmel, films selected by a board of playwrights, critics, and writers in New York, composed of Sidney Howard, Elmer Rice, Lee Simonson, Hendrik William van Loon, Amos Pinchot, Philip Littell and many others. The Film and Photo League has just started a branch in Carmel under the lead of Sybil Anikeef, pupil of Edward Weston. .Prominent Carmelites on the board of the National Film and Photo League are Edward Weston, Lincoln Steffens, Mrs. Albert Rhys Williams.

The first film to be brought is a Russian film "1905" based on Maxim Gorki's novel, "Mother," heretofore censored in the USA. It shows the unrest in Russia before the first 1905 revolution. In view of the wave of strikes now sweeping the United States this film is of particular interest now.

Sunday will also be shown the latest Soviet news reels and a short called "Lenin" showing scenes taken during his life-time. The showing is at the Carmel Community Playhouse at 8 p.m. and admission is 25 cents—adv.

Miss Edith Smythe and Ernest Perkins Jr. drove to San Francis-Francisco last Saturday.

Fourth Graders Will Give "Golden Goose"

"The Golden Goose" an adaptation from an old English folk tale will be played by members of the fourth grade at the Sunset school assembly Friday at 11:20. They will also give an English Morris dance, "Bean Setting" and a Swedish dance, "Gustave Skol" and will sing "Columbus" and the "Fairy Boat."

The Tuesday noon fire alarm was turned in by Ross Cowen, corner Crespi and Mountain View when his picturesque Cadillac racing car caught fire, and burning gasoline and upholstry started a grass fire. Both fire engines and many Carmelites raced to the scene of the fire arriving too late to save the car but extinguished the grass flames which endangered the neighborhood.

TO PREPARE YEAR BOOK

O. W. Bardarson will attend a meeting in Fresno Saturday called by the California Elementary School Principals Association to formulate plans for the year book, the topic of which will be "Public Relations."

A number of Carmel people went on board Old Ironsides Sunday when it was in the Monterey harbor.

Mrs. John Tait and family have taken a house on Junipero and Fifth. They formerly lived on Carmelo.

Library Reports an Increase In Patronage

The monthly library report is a barometer of the population of Carmel according to Hortense Berry, librarian. In August the total of books to be borrowed was around 9000. In September with vacationers leaving and people going back to school, the number of adult books loaned came to 5898 and the juvenile books to 857, approximately 2245 less than in August.

The library reports 83 new permanent borrowers for September making a total of 2218, and 132 temporary borrowers.

Denny-Watrous Presents Wilson and Frederick

RUTH WILSON
Who, With Corinne Frederick Will Give a Concert Friday Night

The recital of Ruth Wilson, brilliant young violinist, and Corinne Frederick, pianist of St. Louis, has been set forward from Saturday night to Friday night of this week in the Denny-Watrous gallery, at eight-thirty o'clock.

Ruth Wilson has received high praise from Auer, Zimbalist, Casella, Elly Ney, to mention but a few. She studied with Kochanski and Borissoff, and has been recognised as a genius since her debut in New York City at the age of twelve.

Corinne Frederick is a pianist who has played as soloist eight times with the St. Louis Symphony alone, which is sufficient to indicate the high nature of her attainments.

The two young women will give a joint recital—two violin-piano sonatas, and a piano solo group and a violin solo group. They played in San Francisco for Pro Musica on Monday evening of this week with tremendous success, going back to play there again on the twelfth.

Such comments as the following do not come to every artist. St. Paul writes of Ruth Wilson: ". . . it was an astounding performance entitled to rank among the few really memorable readings of this stupendous work." And from San Antonio of Corinne Frederick. ". . . was so gorgeously colorful and indeed such a distinguished performance as to place Miss Frederick in the front rank of Chopin interpreters." And from St. Louis, ". . . the Mozart piano quartette in which Corinne Frederick constituted the impetus and focal points of a sparkling performance at the piano. The ensemble reflected the ease, confidence, and refinement of her playing."

The program is as follows:

VIOLIN AND PIANO—
Sonata in D minor .... Brahms

PIANO—
Alllegro in C major....Mozart
Rhapsodie in G minor..Brahms
La poupee de biscuit .... Villa-Lobos

CARMEL DOLLARS

Nearly half of the Carmel Dollars were redeemed at the luncheon in Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff's garden last Saturday. The receipts from the 150 people who attended made possible the retirement of 165, leaving around 200 in circulation.

This luncheon had the usual grand success of benefit affairs given by Mrs. Rendtorff. The eight tables in the beautiful garden were attractively decorated with flowers by Miss Sophie Burgdorff. Mrs. Rendtorff was assisted in preparing and serving the luncheon by twenty local women.

Various entertainments and speeches included singing by Robert Stanton, a most delightful feature. A chart was filled with redeemed dollars as money was paid in supervised by Bernard Rountree who has been very active for the cause. Four boys of the Sunset school talked on different phases of the N.R.A. Winsor Josselyn and O. W. Bardarson presented an instructive dialog regarding the Carmel Dollar.

In speaking with a Sun representative, Bernard Rountree said:

"A grand total of 525 Carmel Dollars have been retired and it is expected that merchants and citizens will use the remainder more energetically than ever.

"If everyone will ask for and spend Carmel Dollars as often as possible, we will get them all retired before Monterey finishes up with their trade warrants. Lets do it.

"Remember that Carmel Dollars only needing eight stamps will be redeemed by Bernard Rowntree. Leave word at either bank if you have any."

ALVIN BELLER EXHIBIT ATTRACTS ATTENTION

The exhibition of oils, paintings and water-colors by Alvin J. Beller at the Denny-Watrous gallery is receiving much favorable comment.

Mr. Beller, who spent the summer in Santa Fe, has caught the atmosphere and spirit of that location in his pictures. The softness of the tones seem to portray the peace and happiness that is peculiar to the natives of New Mexico.

The exhibition will continue this week, and you will have an poportunity to enjoy Mr. Beller's work if you have not seen them already.

Stanifords Are Now Reaall Drug Store

Staniford's Drug store has received the Rexall agency it was announced this week and a very complete line of these famous drugs and sundries is being put in. Rexall drugs have avery well known reputation for being the best and Stanifords are to be congratulated on their new connection.

One of the famous Rexall One-Cent sales will be held later this month.

QUALITY MARKET OWNER HASN'T PIG'S FEET

"Have you pigs' feet?" and "How's your kidneys?" They sound like very personal questions, but Fred Weber, proprietor of the Quality Market hears them most every day. One man came in and asked for two pounds of cat's liver, but no cats had been butchered—and so it goes.

Seriously, Mr. Weber said that Carmel people confined their meat buying almost entirely to lamb and beef, and such being the case, they are going to be interested in Quality Market specials offered in this issue of Carmel Sun. Tell Mr. Weber you read his ad in this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lewis of San Francisco recently spent their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in Carmel, stopping at Hotel La Ribera. Mr. Lewis is connected with the D. N. & E. Walter Co., of San Francisco.

Michel Penha, Artist Gives Free Concert

A cello concert by Michel Penha, accompanied by Ralph Linsley! Well, that was a concert worth attending, and the two hundred who filled the Denny-Watrous gallery were thrilled Saturdayevening by a delightful program Sammartini, Beethoven, Hure, Hahn, Faure and other well loved composers lived again through the clear rich tones of Penha's cello. He chose a variation of themes, giving first the serious, then the light, and all were equally delightful.

Both the musicians were called again and again for encores.

Proceeds from the concert went to the Carmel Music Society to make up the deficit from the series of numbers given the past season and no "benefit" was ever attended by more enthusiastic audience.

FRANK DALTON WINS WITH KNOCKOUT IN FIRST

The card at the Post was the best since the bowl opened and the Carmel fight fans that drove over the big hill not only saw a good bunch of fights but they saw Frank Dalton carry the colors of Carmel to a speedy victory. It was Frank's first fight in the big rings but he worked like a veteran. In less than two minutes of fighting Dalton jabbed Bob McPherson off balance with his long left and then put him to sleep with a sledge hammer right. Dalton weighed 144 1-2 and McPherson 147 1-4.

Fighting Bob, Frank's younger brother was one of his seconds and of course Teodaro Ili was the other. The ring-wise little Filipino seconded Bob Dalton in all his fights and Bob is still undefeated.

In the main event Homer Brandies of San Francisco won a close fight from Gene O'Grady of Salinas. It was Brandies' fight most of the way. O'Grady is the hard hitting boy that laid out Battling Bons a few weeks ago.

Buck Anderson and Rusty Westman fought six fast rounds in the semi-windup, to a draw. It was the best fight of the night. The boys weighed in at 142.

Flashy Bud Naulty gave Frank Morales a real boxing lesson in the curtain raiser. Naulty is the cleverest fighter at the Post.

Larry Wright had too much on the ball for Al Suldickas and won without much trouble but it was a good fight and Suldickas' gameness got him a big hand. The boys weighed in at 145.

Harry Gerb and Chief Berkman put on a slugging match of the street corner kind that had the crowd on their feet. Gerb won. Weight 155.

Harry McDonald knocked Kid Casey for a row of apple carts in the first flurry. Mac is the coast champ. Weight 153.

Frank Dalton has been matched with Tex Ricard for the next card. Tex is a tough boy and should give the Carmel boy a lot of trouble. Dalton is favored to win by a knockout.

CHICAGO CRITICS ESTEEM WESTON

Edward Weston's exhibit at the Increase Robinson Galleries in Chicago is the subject of long press notices one especially keen observation of the photographs by Inez Cunningham in the Herald-Examiner. We re-print in part:

"Edward Weston more than any other photographer, more in fact than any but few American or European painters, understands the secrets of presenting form, composition and textures.

"He in no way searches for the mystification or deception of the beholder. These photographs are his words of truth, the utterance of a poet, and they are Bibical.

"With the all-seeing the omiscent and the tolerant eye of one who sees nothing evil, he presents to us the wonders of creation.

"There is nothing tricky, nothing off center in any one of these remarkable photographs. They are merely an evidence that a man of genius looks at the world from a different point of view from that of the ordinary man."

BEN PHILLIPS WRITES ANENT DOGS AND LOVE

The following poem was inspired by the recent performance in this city of the hero dog, Prince awarded a medal for saving the life of his master's sister:

PRINCE

We saw black Prince where folks had met
For N.R.A. and P.T.A.,
And all these days we never yet
Had viewed more tricks which canines play.
We garnered knowledge on a thing
Called love which humans battle o'er,
Or smother out or maybe fling
Aside as something of a bore.
For true devotion won for him
The name of Prince, a fitting name
That shall not thru the seasons dim
'Mong those in dogdom's hall of fame.
He walked a wobbly stick that swayed,
And edged across it sidewise too,
We deemed he'd hardly make the grade,
But triumphant came the artist thru.
He sat upon the handle of
A broom held high above the mat,
And from that shaky perch above
Saluted us the while we sat.
He jumped the rope with dazzling speed,
Or sprang right thru a narrow ring—
But why detail each sterling deed,
Or of his art to gloat and sing;
Save this which we must e'er repeat
When cruelty flaunts a cold impress,
Prince gave a lesson that's replete
With good that springs from faithfulness.
He gave alesson to young and old,
Yes, far ahead of most fine talk,
For men are set on that called gold,
And oft at that called love they balk.

—Ben Phillips.

ANENT THE RECENT RUMMAGE SALE

By Ruma Boobuckle

"There's something about these sales that intrigue me; I don't know what it is, unless it's the conglomeration of stuff that finds its way here." So said a plus-four attired male with a curious smile as he strolled about, looking for the nothing he hoped to find, going out with something he didn't need or intended to buy, thus proving himself to be, "just a regular guy."

Perhaps Noah Webster had in mind a rummage sale when he put the word "stuff," into his indispensable tome. Look it up. Anyway, everything from the wardrobe of a charming movie actress, including costume jewelry, lounging and beach pajamas, prize masquerade ensemble, boudoir accessories, and what have you, to a package sent in by a thoughtful doner that contained a bottle of mineral oil; and believe it or not, somebody bought it and nobody's feelings were hurt.

There were hats that made you happy, and hats that made you sad. One, aptly named by a prominent lady artist, a "three decker," gave you the idea that the wearer could put over anything, anywhere. If she headed a war debt delegation to Europe, she'd come back with the "dough" all right. Thar's individualism in that thar brown and cream straw hat.

Many cobblers can read character by the shoes brought them to mend. A casual glance at rummage shoes and you'll believe it

A look at the two round spots on the soles of those silver dancing sandals, and you know the gal that wore 'em kept 'em busy. The spread and buldge of others showed they'd carried too much weight. On wondered why some were sent, they looked like new. These were quickly sold. The best shoes were up front with the fine necklaces and scarves, and silk undies, yeah, lots of "dog" at this sale. Down back were the ten cent shoes. Here rested, dad's, mother's, junior',s sister's, and baby's cast-offs, scuffed by the Carmel grit. And does it grit? look at your own. One woman said, "Lady, these shoes ain't worth much. Uppers gone, toes out, no soles, laces broke; can I have 'em for fifteen cents?" "If that's all that's wrong with 'em you may have 'em for five," answered the helper. Mrs. Squeezeagle brought a good pair of shoes to the desk and whined, "These fit me but I'll have to get the heels fixed, and there's scuffs on 'em. I want to wear 'em with a evenin' dress; they're marked a quarter but they ain't worth it." "Look in the ten cent section. We were told to mark those at a dollar, they're good shoes." "I'll take 'em." And she gave the helper a dirty look. Mrs. Flatpurse came along with two little tots. "Wonder if you've got any shoes that'll fit these two. They wear 'em out so fast and money's scarce." The kiddies were fitted. One of the boss ladies had overheard and gave the high sign, which meant, don't charge anything. Got to know your stuff at a rummage sale. An elderly woman, with a kindly expression was caressing a tiny pair of soiled white kid baby-shoes. She was in a world of her own. Perhaps they recalled a pair in the long ago that were forever being kicked off, and as many times replaced by her loving hands.

One nice cheery woman breezed in with three friends and said: "You wouldn't think a woman with a big Packard car would be buying things at a rummage sale. Before the depression I had money to give folks, now I buy things at sales and send to them." And they bought plenty. Another woman who was chauffered to the sale bought all the jelly glasses. "My maid is making jelly and needs something to put it in," said she. Come to think of it jelly does have to go in something.

Many folks wonder what use anyone would have for cracked plates, bowls, platters, cups without handles—some of the handles were there, you had to stitch them on—lonely saucers; one woman bought five to put under her flower pots. A large glass pitcher sold for a dime, after the buyer satisfied herself that the crack in it didn't leak. Four coffee pots were in a huddle. If we believe that everything has a voice, we can "imagine" their talk. "Is my dame sore when her old man won't get up and start me goin'? I'll tell you! She yanks me off the shelf, dumps the coffee in me, fists my lid on, bangs me on the stove, and turns the gas up till my handle's afire; the meanie!" "She's got nothing on our old man; he's the oneriest cuss goin'! He comes scuffing in the kitchen in his shorts and old bathrobe, a grumpin' and grouchin' something awful. One mornin' when that durn bank holiday was on, he got me all ready to put on the fire, and set me on the edge of the sink and acourse I toppled over. Was he mad? He grabbed me and bashed me agin' the other side of the sink, and that's how come my shape's ruined." "Well pals, I reckon my folks is kinda careless. Sometimes my perco's in, and then again it's in the kid's buggy and my lid's in the hen yard. I don't know what a good cleanin' out feels like. This is the first time I got plenty air. Didge year that woman say you can get new insides for us at the five and ten? Gee! I hope she won't buy me, I don't like her looks." "I've got no kick comin'. I got a good scrub and sunbath every day, and I liked my folks. I wouldn't be here now if somebody hadn't sent my lady a new pot for her birthday. 'Land sake, I hate to part with my old standby, but I don't need two pots and this is in good shape, somebody can make use of it.' Hope I get another good home, I'm not used to hard knocks and I'm proud of my looks." And just then came along a man who bought the pot for its looks saying: "Just the pot I want for my mountain cabin."

"That suit will just fit you," a helper was saying, "take it in the back room and try it on." "But, lady, these here pants is golf pants; I'm a working man." "Well, you can use the coat and vest can't you?" "Not without pants, lady."

"It's a rotten shame!" voiced a young man. "This overcaot is too short in the sleeves; it's a wow of a buy. Gosh!"

"I got the wrong parcel," said a maiden lady. "These are men's shirts."

"Where's my coat?" asked the top boss. "I just put it down here." Everybody looking. A few minutes later it was found on a rack marked seventy-five cents. "That's my purse, lady." "Pardon, I thought it belonged here." Everything's grist that comes to the rummage mill.

Orchids to the workers, before and during the sale, to all those who so kindly sent things that wil make many folks comfortable and happy for some time to come; to the owner of the building that provided ample space for attractive display; to those who sent plants and flowers, and those who loaned tables and chairs.

Some of the things left over were given to a church-worker to distribute to the Carmel needy, the rest was given to the Salvation Army, and did they appreciate it? I'm telling you!!!

Though there are no Carmel Valley notes this week because the correspondent is away the news will be resumed in the next issue.

Plans for the protection of the game in the Mt. Madonna Park region have been launched by the Pajara Valley Boosters' Club, Watsonville, which has decided to take up the matter with State authorities, according to William Gaffey, president of the organization. He says the Mt. Madonna area abounds in deer which have become as tame as domestic animals, because residents of that district have refrained from shooting them for many years, but that outsiders have been ignoring trespass signs and killing wild life.

Of particular interest to rabbit and cavy breeders throughout the State is the announcement that the California State Association of Rabbit and Cavy Breeders will hold its annual convention and reunion in conjunction with the rabbit show at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, September 15 to 24. Representatives from all parts of California will be in attendance and the sessions will continues throughout the ten days of the fair, according to R. W. Farr, superintendent in charge of the rabbit department.

A new record for forest and field fire damage in California appeared likely this year, with losses up to August 1 totaling but $53,808. This compares with an August 1 loss of $72,344 last year and $601,000 in 1931.

NEWS REACHED CARMEL WHILE L. A. QUAKED

News of the Los Aneles earthquake of a few days ago reached Carmel while the houses were rocking.

Mrs. James of the Town and Country Shop, who was visiting in that city, took advantage of the low telephone rates at that hour to phone her business associate, Mr. McFarland, that she would not return home next day. While she was talking the quake came and she informed him that there was an earthquake.

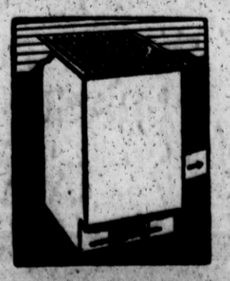
"Now, Mother, the world is not getting warmer. I'm afraid that our Natural Gas Heating prompts you to say that."

Natural Gas
Naturally THE BETTER FUEL

CALIFORNIA climate presents a heating problem that demands easily controlled heat.

There are no long severe winters. Heat is needed for short periods and it must come quickly. To build up a big fire means wasted fuel. For quick-acting heat that warms floors and walls and circulates into every room corner, climate-wise Californians, rely on Natural Gas—naturally the better fuel.

Gas is piped directly to the furnace or heater and there is no bother to order or handle it. Natural Gas Heating equipment, too, was developed for California homes. Each of the newest types of equipment have known heat-output ratings ranging from the smaller space heaters to the full automatic warm-air furnaces. Investigate and see. Get the facts.



Circulating Heater
Attractive, low in first cost and highly efficient. It heats two to four rooms. Made in many sizes and styles. Extremely economical to operate.

Floor Furnace
Solves the heating problem for homes without a basement. Highly praised by thousands. Saves floor space and is easy and most economical to install and operate.
